Government directs support to rice farmers

Phnom Penh Post : 15/August/2017

Cambodia - The government announced yesterday that it would "intervene" to support the price that farmers receive for their paddy rice, though without instituting a price floor or direct subsidies that would jeopardise a free market.

Vongsey Vissoth, secretary of state at the Ministry of Economy and Finance (MEF), told representatives of the private sector and agricultural cooperatives that the government would take action to prop up the price that local rice farmers receive for their harvest. Read more

Bangladesh signs big rice deal

Khmer Times : 16/August/2017
