“Somdech Hun Sen Urges Philippine Investment for Ailing Rice Sector”
CambodiaDaily : April 11, 2017
The price drop and subsequent protests by some farmers led Mr. Hun Sen to inject $27 million into the industry. He also urged rich Cambodians and government officials to buy rice from struggling farmers. His remarks to Mr. Duterte came during the Philippine leader's visit to Cambodia in December.

“Previously, the price of paddy rice dropped dramatically, making farmers unhappy. But it's not just in Cambodia,” Mr. Hun Sen said, noting that Thailand was also struggling. Reuters reported in August that former Thai Prime Minister Yingluck Shinawatra faced charges of criminal negligence over her government's rice subsidy scheme, which the military junta that ousted her claims cost the state more than $8 billion. “Millers push for China access”
The Phnom Penh Post : April 05, 2017
According to Hun Lak , Vice president of Cambodia Rice Federation, Cambodia's rice industry has struggled since 2015, with about 10 millers forced into bankruptcy and others deep in debt. He said the global market has become increasingly “narrow and strict”, and unless Cambodian exporters can develop new markets the rice industry could soon collapse.

The latest challenge to the sector is the EU's call on farmers to eradicate the use of the fungicide Tricyclazole in rice production. The European Commission has given Cambodian producers of white rice until June and fragrant rice until December to meet its revised threshold levels – 0.01 milligrams of Tricyclazole residue per kilo of rice, far below the current limit of 1 milligram per kilo. “Domestic price hike hurts VN rice exporters”
Vietnamnet : April 07, 2017
According to the Ministry of Agriculture and Rural Development, Viet Nam exported 1.28 million tonnes of rice, worth nearly US$570 million, during the first three months of 2017. This represents a decrease of 18.1 per cent in volume and 17.3 per cent in value from figures during the corresponding period last year. Do Ha Nam, general director of the Intimex Group Joint Stock Company, said most exported rice was destined for the Philippines, China and Africa, which are also the largest rice importers in Viet Nam. However, enterprises that were not among those companies allowed to export to China under the protocol on plant quarantine for Viet Nam's rice and rice bran exports to China, found it difficult to find markets. CGTN : April 13, 2017
The annual output of China's “super hybrid rice” may soon reach 17 tons per hectare, according to renowned rice scientist Yuan Longping, who is known as China's “father of hybrid rice.” “This year, we are striving for a new target – 1,130 kilograms per mu (about 0.07 hectares), or 17 tons per hectare,” Yuan said in a speech on Wednesday at the First International Forum on Rice in Sanya, Hainan Province. “The chance of reaching the 17-ton target is 90 percent.” He added that the Ministry of Agriculture launched a project on super hybrid rice breeding in 1996, adding that the target of 16 tons per hectare was realized in 2015. About 65 percent of Chinese depend on rice as a staple food. The country's super hybrid rice, boasting remarkably high yields, is produced by crossbreeding different kinds of rice. Read more...

Italian farmers' association Coldiretti said imports of rice from Asia was driving the price of the home-grown staple into the ground, while lax labelling laws meant families could not trace the origins of products on supermarket shelves.

“Over the last year, the sale price of rice has halved and the number of imports has quadrupled from southeast Asia,” said Coldiretti head Roberto Moncalvo, as producers rallied in protest outside the agriculture ministry in Rome. Read mtores...
