Concerns over rice stockpile release by Thailand

KHMER TIMES : 02/June/2017

Cambodia - Cambodian rice millers and exporters are strongly concerned that Thailand's plan to release 4.32 million tonnes of state rice stocks by September, driven by a sharp surge in global rice demand, could depress prices of the vital grain on commodity markets. Mr Lak said that Cambodia, unlike Thailand, lacked large warehouses to store rice paddy and release the grain when market prices were high. "The longest time we can keep our stocks is three to four months and after that it gets spoilt," he added. Read more

Demand Surge to increase rice price

Bangkok Posts: 30/May/2017

Thailand - World rice prices are expected to rise by US$20 (682 baht) a tonne over the next three months, driven by a sharp surge in global rice demand, according to experts. Global rice supply is now quite tight, while Thailand's previously hefty state rice stocks have eased, releasing pressure on global rice prices, Jeremy Zwinger, chief executive of the Rice Trader, said at the "World Rice Trade Outlook" seminar of Thailand Rice Convention 2017, held in Bangkok yesterday. Purchase interest is also expected to increase on a continuous basis from China, Africa and the Philippines, he said.

"We have now gone from a buyer's market to a seller's market," Mr Zwinger said. "The power is shifting back to the origin." The Thai government now controls 4.32 million tonnes of state rice stocks and aims to dispose of it all by September this year, given rising rice demand. Read more

The Philippines also said it would issue a tender to import rice from key suppliers Thailand and Vietnam and possibly India. Read more

Bottlenecks in rice production chain affecting market share

Vietnam.net : 02/June/2017

Vietnam - According to IPSARD, the first bottleneck is related to supply. Two-thirds of the rice surplus is in the hands of 20 percent of the biggest farmers - producers with an average cultivated area of 2.74 hectares.

Of 9 million households that grow rice, rice productivity from the biggest 300,000 households accounts for the large proportion of rice exports.

The 'bulge' in the rice value chain is processing. While rice cultivation depends on a number of large households, the processing is carried out at over 300,000 factories, most of which are small scale. Read more

Asia Rice-Importer demand pushes prices, Vietnam hits near 2.5-yr high

Kitco News : 01/June/2017

Vietnam - Strong demand from top importing countries has led to a spurt in Asian rice prices, with the grain being quoted at its highest in nearly two and a half years in Vietnam and touching almost a year-high in Thailand, traders said on Thursday.

Vietnam's 5-percent broken rice was quoted at a level unseen since December 2014, at $390 a tonne, FOB Saigon, up from $360-$380 last week, as suppliers looked forward to export deals, traders said.

"People expect prices to rise to $400 and even more, so they don't want to sell now. Traders want to wait and see," said a trader based in Ho Chi Minh City. Read more
